

Accelerate Learner-Centered in Your District

While your educators earn a job-embedded M.Ed

Educators create what they experience, which is why 2Revolutions and Learner-Centered Collaborative have teamed up to bring districts, schools, and educators a transformational learning experience that:

- models the learning we want for students;
- builds internal leadership and instructional capacity for realizing a competency-based, learner-centered model of education; and
- earns educators a master's degree or credits towards a doctorate.

Build a vanguard of leaders with the knowledge, skills, and mindsets to help drive transformation in your classrooms and the system. Our cohort model builds coherence and capacity throughout teams and supports learning and greater earning potential with the option of a 30-credit M.Ed or 15-credit certificate.

Master's of Education in Teacher Leadership

Specialization in learner-centered education

Educators completing the master's program will know and be able to:

- apply the core components of a learner-centered model within instruction, assessment, and leadership;
- identify the requirements of a system that supports learner-centered pedagogies; and
- create a plan and continue to support transforming practice towards a learner-centered model.

This program is unique because it...

- Models a competency-based, learner-centered experience with a focus on demonstrating application of learning.
- Allows learners to pursue a flexible pathway based on their authentic needs and interests, and centers around meeting the core competencies in ways that are relevant to their work and context.
- Supports learners to learn at their own pace by leveraging instructional content and demonstrating competency through culminating tasks when ready.
- Anticipates learning needs of both the individual and the collaborative to build competency and support leadership development.
- Is cost-effective to ensure equity of access and helps build capacity at scale.
- Features Learner-Centered Collaborative and 2Revolutions adjunct faculty with deep expertise who serve as personal coaches in the learning process.

How it works

Seven 10-week terms (80% asynchronous, 20% synchronous) culminate with a Capstone, giving learners the opportunity to integrate learning in meaningful ways. Each course is designed with multiple synchronous touchpoints with adjunct faculty for personalized support. The sample fall 2022 program sequence below is customizable based on the unique needs and learning goals of both the cohort and individuals.
